One useful task. Together.

A listening conversation for willing churches and existing providers.

Agape, love of God and neighbor, guides the work. Begin with a need people name, agree on one small task, and follow through with care.

Use your church or provider's existing record. This sheet is a conversation aid, not a new roster or MTA intake form. Nothing needs to be sent to MTA.

1. What would help?

Let the neighbor or provider name one useful goal. Describe the task without private family details.

One useful task

2. Who is willing?

Use existing local relationships. Each provider and church decides whether to take part and who is responsible.

Host or provider role / local record reference

Willing church roles and one next-step owner

3. What needs agreement?

Confirm the provider's rules, volunteer process, access and language needs. Keep suggestions separate from accepted plans.

Accepted timing, roles and provider requirements

Access needs; costs and cost owner (unknown stays unknown)

4. How will we know it helped?

Agree who will check useful completion and when. Keep any remaining gap with one responsible person.

Useful result, who will confirm it, and when

Remaining gap and one accountable next action

Leave out family names, private stories, account numbers and household records. Use roles or an existing local record reference for responsibilities.

Unknown costs stay unknown. Agree on the cost owner and any approved spending before making a commitment. Each church keeps its own leadership. Neighbors choose whether to take part. Help must not depend on joining a church or MTA class.

Ask whether the agreed help was useful. A completed sheet, attendance or a photo does not prove that it helped. People may decline feedback.
